for the Judiciary.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 13. (Spl.)—
State officials are highly pieased over the fact that the first bill proposing an increase of their salaries was introduced by Mr. Hemingway, of Hinds, chairman of the house committee on appropriations. While the measure first goes to the committee on fees and salaries, the influence of the head of the appropriations committee in behalf of better pay for the officers will be a very considerable factor, as the library considerable factor, as the library the first pay depend upon the volume of appropriations recommended by Chairman Hemingway's committee.

The Hemingway bill fixes the salary of the governor at $10,000 per year.

The Hemingway bill fixes the salary of the governor at $10,000 per year, with $1.500 per annum for the lieuten-ant-governor and speaker of the house. The governor is also allowed $1,500 per year for a stenographer.

The salaries of the six supreme court judges are fixed at $4,500 each, as at present, but a commission is created.

judges are fixed at $4,500 each, as at present, but a commission is created, composed of members of the tribunal to determine what opinions of the court shall be officially reported, and allowing the members $3,000 per year for this work. This method of increasing salaries for the members of the judiciary was adopted in Missouri and stood the test of the constitutional prohibition against increasing or diminishing the compensation of these officials during their term of office. The pay of "the reporter of the supreme court is fixed at $3,500 per year, and the court is allowed two stenographers at $1,800 per year, and the reporter a stenographer with salary of $1,200 per year.

Pay of other state officers is fixed in the Hemingway bill as follows:
State tax commission: Chairman, $4,000; two commissioners, $3,600 each; secretary, $2,400; clerks, $2,100; stenographer, $1,300

Mr. Hemingway has been giving the salary question a very painstaking study for several months, and the amounts he has fixed, it is believed, will be generally satisfactory to the office holders. He is thoroughly familiar with the needs of the various departments, having been for 11 years an employe in the state auditor's office.

MONEY CAMPAIGNS WILL BE REGULATED

Future campaigns for funds for charitable or other causes in Memphis will be held down to the actual amount required and will otherwise be carefully audited and supervised, according to the plans of the Chamber of Commerce Social Agencies Indorsement committee. J. A. Riechman, chairman of the committee, 'has had a "standard subscription form" prepared, which all organizations are expected to use all organizations are expected to use in their campaigns. Solicitation of subscriptions on this form is subject to this uniform condition:

"That the full amount asked is necessary for the purposes named and that at the close of the campaign a statement shall be made to the Chamber of Commerce committee showing the gross amount of all subscriptions secured; that unless the full amount asked has been secured the Chamber of Commerce committee, after a consultation with a committee from the subscribers, may either suggest payment in full, pro rate or void the subscription as may be decided by the joint committee."

as may be decided by the joint com-mittee."

This means that the public cannot be asked for more than is actually needed for a given cause, and that after the campaign has been made, if it is found that the amount needed has not been secured, the subscribers are to have a hand in deciding whether the funds subscribed should be remitted or the work undertaken on what was the work undertaken on what was aised.

This blank is not to be used in asking for subscriptions for maintenance f institutions, but only for extension r emergency work.

MORE RAIN; RISING RIVER IS PREDICTION

Although S. C. Emery took Tuesday off from the weather bureau, remaining at home on account of a slight indisposition, he evidently was in a good frame of mind when he prophesied the brand of weather for Memphians. The government bulletin predicts continued warm weather, cloudy and probable rain Wednesday, with no sign of a cold spell in sight. The reading at 7 o'clock Tuesday was 41.

Continued rise in the river was shown the gauge reading 19.3 feet, which was 2.3 feet higher than Monday forenoon. Mr. Emery looks for the peak of the present rise to reach here about Saturday. Rains in the upper Ohio region are given as the reason.

A true love for the beautiful and a keen observance are the sources of inspiration for this column, in which I shall, from time to time, give you some "behind the scenes" glimpses of store news. My word and pen sketches, if lacking in logic and technicalities, are instinctively feminine.

Watch Your Step

In this pretty slipper. It will undoubtedly attract attention. Under pressure it proves to be softest French kid. It is built on colonial lines and possesses a mentionable feature; simply remove the kid bow and the versatile slipper becomes a charming, low Southern tie. The sharp toe and heel are Important points of interest. The price? When in black sixteen dollars and in tan sixteen fifty.

This Is One of the Prettiest Dresses

I have noticed among the advanced fashions emerging from their tissue wrappings. It is a bewitching, individual development of black and white satin. It has that becoming oval neck line; short sleeves set under a panel blouse effect of white; with white drapery extending into the skirt about knee length. Then black satin runs into a most unusual line down the front and back, forming a knee-deep nem band. The girdle is wrought on the blouse itself in an oval of most artful etching of black finger embroidery in swallow design. The dress is closely marked at $135.00.

A bevy of Taffetas with drawn in or draped skirts. Tricotine and Suede Cloths with buttons running up or down the back; flat necks or frills. Frocks and Gowns for morning, afternoon and evening wear, all can be found. ranging from $98.00 to $165.00 on the Third Floor. The knowledge that these are most becoming dresses is something to be thankful for.

> "The flowers that bloom in the spring, Tra-la Have nothing to do with the case."

Indeed, quite the reverse in the display of Chapeaux, for the early growth of mushroom shapes are studded with oddly placed clusters of finger-made flowers-medallions of art in coloring-sometimes chiffon, sometimes metal tissue, and often even feather flowery thoughts are expressed. It would be difficult to keep one's mind alert if it were not for hats. You can not resist that Black Rawak French Milan, cut Maline Pom Poms and unexpected corded Maline facing. Or this combined straw and taffeta that seems to have tacit agreement to first conceal and then reveal the vision under cover,

One and Inseparable

It is natural to feel that way about sweaters and spring; so why not decide on a mode so adaptable to service indoors as well as out? In that soft tone of mauve, which looks so well with any other color, there is a lovely lockstitch. Tuxedo coat effect that delightfully, almost daringly follows the personality of the individual.

Becoming very serious, and considering the financial side of things, those vestees on clearance sale are marked ridiculously low, for the material itself cannot be bought with the two dollars for which these are priced. They are really good looking and many of the spring models again feature vestees.
